at the
2013 World Baseball Classic
(Information current as of 22 February 2013)*

The third World Baseball Classic will be played in eight cities in three countries over 17 days to crown a champion from among 16 of the best baseball-playing countries in the world. This guide previews the coverage facilities and procedures to support the news media of many nations who will cover the event.

Please note that the protocols and procedures for this tournament vary from those used in Major League Baseball or in other national leagues around the world, and conform more closely to those used in other international competitions, such as the Olympic Games. For example, team clubhouses and some practices are closed (except for scheduled media-day workouts), but a program of informal interview access after each game has been created.

An experienced staff of media operations professionals will be at each site to assist you with these procedures and in your reporting efforts. We are at your service to support your work in reporting on a unique international sporting event that will crown one champion nation on March 19 in San Francisco.

1. Accreditation

Accreditation is required for all news media covering the 2013 World Baseball Classic.

Media credentials for World Baseball Classic games to be played in Taiwan and the United States (including Puerto Rico) will be issued by Major League Baseball. The final application deadline for these venues was Friday, February 15, 2013. Accredited media must have applied for accreditation and received confirmation prior to the tournament. For questions concerning accreditation, please visit <http://credentials.mlb.com> or send your inquiry to credentials@mlb.com.

News media requesting accreditation for first-round games in Fukuoka, Japan and/or second-round games in Tokyo, Japan ONLY must make a separate request to https://idweb.val.co.jp/wbc_press_2013/ For questions concerning accreditation for World Baseball Classic games in Japan, send your inquiry to wbc2013-press@tsp-taiyo.co.jp

1.01 Accreditation and access

Each accreditation badge includes a group identification, internal access code and a photograph of the person to whom it is issued. However, the issuance of an accreditation badge does not entitle the bearer to enter any World Baseball Classic game.

= IMPORTANT =

All news media accredited for the Classic must also obtain a game-access credential that allows entry into specific stadia for specific games. Game-access credentials for first-round games will be distributed when you receive your accreditation badge.

Game-access credentials for the second round and final round can only be obtained by responding to an e-mail inquiry which will be sent to the authorized contact for each accreditation media organization in advance of each round. This procedure is similar to that used by FIFA for the soccer World Cup. Inquiries are expected to be sent on the following schedule:

- Round 2/Pool 1: Tokyo March 4 Replies due: March 6
 (for non-Japanese media only; see below)
- Round 2/Pool 2: Miami March 8 March 10
- Final Round: San Francisco March 13 March 15

(Inquiries and responses for Tokyo are to assist non-Japanese media only; Yomiuri Sports is coordinating all Japanese media accreditation for these rounds.)

Based on these responses, game-access credentials will be individually confirmed or denied for each round, and may be picked up at the accreditation station at each venue.

Facilities for Journalists, continued

Credentials for stadium entry are of three different types:

Type	Color	Description
Universal	Blue	Access for all World Baseball Classic games.
Venue	Varies	For all games played in one city (five different colors)
Game	Red	Access for a specific game.

The type of game-access credential to be issued will be determined by the coverage request made in response to the round-by-round inquiry. Those indicating interest in a specific round will receive “Venue” credentials and all others will be issued passes for individual games.

Game-access credentials will be picked up on a round-by-round basis. News media holding credentials issued in Japan for first-round games held in Fukuoka, or second-round games held in Tokyo, will need Major League Baseball-issued credentials for the final round.

1.03 In-stadium access

Although a game-access pass is required for entry into a stadium, your accreditation badge determines your access inside the stadium:

Area	Access for:	Journalists	Photographers	Radio-TV (rights-holders)	Radio-TV (non-rights- holders)

Assignments for press box, auxiliary press seating and photo positions will be made by the Venue Press Chief for each site and seating charts will be posted at each site. Media not assigned a seat or position may watch games in the venue media center or workroom and attend the post-game interview sessions.

Assignments of seating positions are made with respect to the following priority list, as used at other international events:

- (1) International news agencies (Agence France Presse, Associated Press, Reuters);

- (2) News media (wire services, national press, local press) from the countries with competing teams at that site;
- (3) News media local to the host site (generally city/county, then state);
- (4) News media from other nations with competing teams in the tournament;
- (5) Other news media.

Given the limited number of seats available, all technicians who do not require a seat to discharge their responsibilities will be asked to remain in the media center or workrooms and not utilize a seat. Thank you in advance for your cooperation.

1.04 Spring training games

Most of the World Baseball Classic teams will play exhibition games prior to the opening of the World Baseball Classic, primarily between February 26-March 6.

Please note that World Baseball Classic credentials will not be used for these games.

Instead, all journalists covering the World Baseball Classic who wish to cover these games are asked to request credentials through the World Baseball Classic team press officer of the team to be covered. Arrangements will then be made with the host team for credentials to allow you to cover the game(s) desired.

As of 7 February, the spring-training game schedule of World Baseball Classic teams included:

Team	Date(s)	Host/Location (as of 7 February 2013)

2. Facilities and Services for Journalists

At each game, a full program of support services will be offered to attending news media:

2.01 Pre-game facilities

Prior to each game, news media will have access to two primary areas:

- On-field access for all credentialed journalists, photographers and non-rightsholding radio and television crews, up to the limit of space on the field. All news media must stay in foul territory between the ends of the first and third-base dugouts.

Team press officers will be on the field to assist with player availability.

All media must leave the field at the end of batting practice, expected to be approximately 45 minutes prior to the start of each game. Team clubhouses are closed at all times.

- Media center or press box access, which varies by stadium. A specially-arranged media center will be established in San Juan, Puerto Rico in the first round. Existing press box facilities will be used at the Yahoo! JAPAN Dome (Fukuoka), Intercontinental Baseball Stadium (Taichung), Chase Field (Phoenix) and Salt River Fields at Talking Stick (Scottsdale) for the first round, at the Tokyo Dome (Tokyo) and Marlins Park (Miami) for the second round and at AT&T Park in San Francisco for the final round.

In all of these locations, facilities and services will include:

- = Pre-game line-ups and notes;
- = Pre-game meals will be served at all sites for $10-12 (U.S.) per person (charge varies by location). Refreshments including bottled water and soft drinks will be available on a complimentary basis during the games.
- = Work stations with electrical power and password-protected Wi-Fi Internet access (802.11 b/g/n standards only); user name and password information will be available at each venue. Please note that charge-a-call telephones will not be available at most sites; media are urged to bring their own mobile telephones for voice communications.
- = Work stations for photographers and photo editors with complimentary, hard-wired, high-speed Internet access lines (use standard Ethernet cables to connect).

Journalists who are assigned a seat in the press box or auxiliary seating areas will cover the games from those locations. News media who are not assigned a seat can remain in the media center or workroom, where there will be large-screen televisions available for viewing.

2.02 In-game facilities

During each game, support services will be offered in the press box, auxiliary press seating areas and media center or workroom as is customary for Major League Baseball games. This includes:

- In the press seating areas, most seats will be equipped with work tables with access to electricity and password-protected Wi-Fi Internet access (802.11 b/g/n compatibility); user name and password information will be available at each venue. Please note that local-access-only (charge-a-call) telephones will not be available at most sites; media are urged to bring their own mobile telephones for voice communications.
- Statistical support will include line-ups, a full box score at the end of the game, an inning-by-inning play-by-play report and transcripts of the post-game formal news conference. Composite statistics will be made available as soon as compiled after each game. A press-only public address system will be used to communicate updates in most seating sections.
- News media placed in seats without tables may request clipboards at the media center or main workroom help desk.

Seating charts for all press seating sections will be posted in the media centers or press workrooms. Inquiries about seating availability should be made to the Venue Press Chief at each site (listed in section 6: Venue-by-Venue below).

2.03 Post-game facilities

Because team clubhouses are closed for the World Baseball Classic, post-game procedures will be different than for Major League Baseball games.

After each game, two player availabilities will be staged in different locations:

- A formal news conference will be held at each site with the manager and 2-3 players from each team who made a significant contribution to the game. The losing team's manager and players will speak first and the winning team's manager and players will follow.

This room will be lit for television and include a riser for television cameras and a mult (patch) box at the back of the seating area. Simultaneous interpretation will be made into the languages of the competing teams and into English.

A full transcript of all of these sessions will be made available (in English only).

- An informal player availability will be arranged in most venues, in another, nearby location (generally the team dugout), with 2-3 players per team brought to the area based on requests from news media during the game.

Team press officers will be available to facilitate interviews, but language interpretation services will NOT be available. These availabilities are provided in place of clubhouse access and will be treated in the same manner.

The location of these programs in Taiwan and U.S. venues will be as follows:

Stadium	Formal Interview	Informal Interview
Round 1/Pool B: Intercontinental Baseball Stadium	Formal Interview Room (ground level)	Team dugouts
Round 1/Pool C: Hiram Bithorn Stadium	Media Center	Team dugouts
Round 1/Pool D: Chase Field	Minor League Storage Room (ground level)	Team dugouts
Salt River Fields at Talking Stick	D-Backs Deck (centerfield clubhouse area)	Team dugouts
Round 2/Pool 2: Marlins Park	Press Interview Room (ground level)	Team dugouts
Final Round: AT&T Park	Nick Peters Media Interview Room (ground level) Auxiliary viewing in the Executive Meeting Room (Suite level: 4th floor)	Team dugouts

Separate arrangements will be made for the first-round games in Fukuoka and second-round games in Tokyo. Changes in location may be made to expand the space available if needed.

2.04 Technology support

Journalists working at the World Baseball Classic will be able to file their stories wirelessly through password-protected Wi-Fi systems available in all press seating areas and press workrooms. These systems will use the 802.11 b/g/n bands; user name and password information will be available at each venue.

Please note that local-access-only (charge-a-call) telephones will not be available at most sites; media are urged to bring their own mobile telephones for voice communications. Journalists wishing to obtain a local mobile telephone to use during the tournament are encouraged to obtain a prepaid phone, now widely available in all cities in which the Classic will be played. Such phones are inexpensive and can be “refilled” by credit card. As the Classic will be played in three different countries, no one type of phone is suggested.

Journalists wishing to order a private telephone or line for any stadium may do so by special order; please send a written request to:

3. Facilities and Services for Photographers

Facilities for photographers vary from site to site, but are quite limited at some of the World Baseball Classic sites.

3.01 Access for photographers

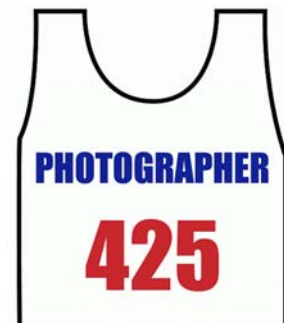

There are positions for photographers in the photo wells on the first-base and third-base side of all World Baseball Classic stadiums. Unfortunately, space in these wells is at a premium and assignments of these spaces will be made in accordance with the priority list in section 1.03.

Additional positions have been located on concourse levels and in some press seats which do not have a table in front of them. Assignments will be made for some positions and open-use positions at other locations will be designated. Photo positions by venue:

Stadium	1st Base Well	3rd Base Well	Elevated Positions	Auxiliary Positions

All World Baseball Classic photographers must obtain a photographer's vest in order to access these shooting positions.

Vests will be checked out by number in the Press Workroom at each venue and must be returned daily.

3.02 Lighting characteristics

Information obtained from the stadiums to be used for World Baseball Classic games in Taiwan and the United States indicates the following interior or night-time lighting levels:

Stadium	Lighting Level Available	March Sunset times
Please note that Daylight Savings Time begins at 2 a.m. on Sunday, March 10

Final Round: AT&T Park	281 footcandles infield 231 footcandles outfield	March 17-19: 7:19 -7:21 p.m.

3.03 Transmission protocol

Major League Baseball actively discourages the editing of photographs in photo wells, or in any location which is subject to being hit by a flying baseball (whether batted or thrown). In view of this, special (safer) areas for photographers have been set up for editing at most sites, usually close by the photo wells.

For the 2013 World Baseball Classic, transmission of photographs will be handled in two ways, depending on the activity:

- Transmission of unedited photographs will be allowed in photo wells and accommodated through the use of provided Ethernet cables and jacks inside these wells. The bandwidth reserved for this purpose will be separate from that used for the writing press; photographers in photo wells and photo workrooms are asked to use this wired system only, as it has a larger capacity to accommodate the larger file sizes needed by photojournalists.
- Editing of photographs must take place off the field. For games played in Taiwan and the United States, specially-arranged areas for photographers (and photo editors) with wired, high-speed Internet access lines have been set up at each venue:

Stadium	Photo Workroom Location	No. of Lines Provided
Round 1/Pool A: Yahoo! JAPAN Dome	Media Workroom (ground level)	(wireless only)

WORLD BASEBALL CLASSIC 2013

Round 2/Pool 2: Marlins Park	Service tunnel (clubhouse level)	32
	Press box small workroom	12
Final Round: AT&T Park	Storage Room (clubhouse level)	32

If requested, memory card runners can be provided to collect photographer-marked envelopes and take them to the photo work area in each venue. Requests should be made to the Venue Press Chief at each site. Cards not claimed by an editor (of the same agency) in the photo work area will be left with the attending steward or held in the press box for later retrieval (until 30 minutes after each game).

4. Information Services

A full program of information services will be available to news media at World Baseball Classic games in Taiwan and the United States, similar to that provided at Major League Baseball post-season games.

4.01 Game information

For all World Baseball Classic games, a tournament-wide compilation of notes, quotes and other items of interest will be assembled and delivered to all sites for media use. This “World Baseball Classic Today” briefing will be available on all days on which games are played, with additional editions issued as needed.

At each ballpark, a blank scorecard and roster of competing teams will be available prior to each game and a full box score and play-by-play report will be distributed at the end of each game.

A transcript of all post-game news conferences will be compiled and distributed, in English only, at venues in Taiwan and the United States.

Copies of box scores, play-by-play reports and quotes from other World Baseball Classic sites will also be available at each ballpark, or can be accessed by accessing www.MLBPressBox.com. This site is free, but requires registration. On it, you can find news releases, statistics and other information relating to the World Baseball Classic.

4.02 Other information services

Teams are also being encouraged to hold news conferences upon arrival, or on off-days. Such events will generally take place at the formal interview room at each park.

Schedules of news conferences and other events to be held at each site will be available in the venue media center.

4.03 Team Press Officers

Each team in the World Baseball Classic will have a press liaison and in some cases, more than one. The World Baseball Classic is providing a press officer for each team playing in Taiwan and the United States and most of the teams have one or more press liaisons who will come with the team.

These individuals are available to assist you with arrangements for player contacts and to arrange (within the framework of each team’s own rules and requirements) for news conferences and other such events. As of 22 February, liaison officers appointed for each team include:

A contact list with telephone numbers for each press liaison officer will be available in each venue media center.

5. Transportation

News media will arrange their own transportation for the World Baseball Classic games; a transit system will NOT be provided.
