About the Meet

- ▶ The second Home Depot Track & Field Invitational will take place on May 22, 2004:
 - The meet is produced by the Anschutz Entertainment Group (AEG) under the direction of Home Depot Center Managing Director Bill Peterson and Track & Field Coordinator Russell Silvers.
 - The Meet Director is Rich Perelman, with Bruce Tenen serving as Elite Athlete Coordinator.
- ▶ The meet is a part of USA Track & Field's Golden Spike Tour series. The Home Depot Invitational is the only Golden Spike meet ever held in the Southern California area. Los Angeles is an appropriate site: more world records (137) have been set here than in any other U.S. city, with New York (60) and Philadelphia (40) a distant second and third. Los Angeles ranks fourth worldwide among world-record setting cities, with London (195), Moscow (146) and Paris (141) ahead.
- ▶ The track & field facility at The Home Depot Center houses an Italian-designed, Canadian-made Mondo Super-X nine-lane track with full field-event facilities inside. There are 2,000 permanent seats and for the Invitational, additional, temporary seats will be provided by Brown United for a seating capacity of 10,320. The site will hold 20,050 for the 2006 IAAF World Cup.
- ▶ Future track & field events slated for The Home Depot Center include the 2005 U.S. National Championships and the 2006 IAAF World Cup.

Event information

- ▶ As of May 19, the program includes 22 events (7 field, 15 track) plus an opening program featuring Olympians from 1932 (when Los Angeles hosted the Games for the first time) through 2000.
- ▶ Based on field sizes as of May 19, the total number of participants is projected at 416 (171 elite, nine Special Olympics athletes plus 236 youth in the relays).
- ▶ A prize purse of $140,000 is offered for the meet, in two levels depending on the event:
 - $12,000 for six Premiere events: $6,000-3,000-1,500-750-500-250 for the men's and women's 100 meters, men's 1,500 meters, women's 100-meter Hurdles, men's shot put and women's pole vault.
 - $8,500 for eight Standard events: $4,000-2,000-1,000-750-500-250 for the men's and women's 400 meters, women's 1,500 meters, men's 110-meter Hurdles, men's pole vault and long jump and women's high jump and discus.
 - No prize purse for the Olympic Development events in the men's and women's 800 meters and 400-meter Hurdles and the special women's Long Jump.
- ▶ The fields in the 19 elite events includes 44 Olympians from 17 nations, including Australia, Barbados, Bermuda, Canada, Congo, Ethiopia, Ireland, Kuwait, Jamaica, Japan, Malta, Nigeria, Panama, Papua-New Guinea, Poland, Saudi Arabia and Slovenia.
- ▶ Drug testing on approximately 14 athletes selected at random will be done by the U.S. Anti-Doping Agency.

Last Year:

Officials and Rules

Officials are provided by the Southern California Association of USA Track & Field. Starters are Dan Reinstein and Jack Brisacher; the meet referees are Ron Battle (track) and Pete Torres (field).

The meet will be run under USA Track & Field rules. In the running events, a first false start is charged against the entire field. A second false start will disqualify competitors. In the long jump, shot and discus, all competitors will receive six attempts, but the order for the last three attempts will be in reverse order of standing after three rounds.

Opening Ceremonies

A parade of Olympians will begin the festivities at noon, celebrating the great history of Los Angeles in track & field as well as the Home Depot Center's designation as a U.S. Olympic Training Site. The participants, as of May 1, include:

Peter Clentzos	1932: pole vault (for Greece)
Lou Zamperini	1936: 5000 m
John Carlos	1968: 200 m (bronze medalist)
Bob Seagren	1968: pole vault (gold medalist); 1972: pole vault (silver medalist)
Patty van Wolvelaere	1968: 80 m hurdles; 1972: 100 m hurdles

Greg Foster	1984: 110 m hurdles (silver medalist); 1988: 110 m hurdles
Steve Lewis	1988: 400 m (gold medalist)
Gail Devers	1988: 100 m hurdles; 1992: 100 m (gold medalist) and 100 m hurdles; 1996: 100 m (gold medalist) and 100 m hurdles; 2000: 100 m hurdles
Mike Conley	1984: triple jump (silver medalist); 1992: triple jump (gold medalist); 1996: triple jump

Others may be added prior to the parade.

Sponsors

The Home Depot is the title sponsor of the meet, with ADT security systems, adidas and Toyota as associate sponsors. The Home Depot is an enthusiastic supporter of the Olympic Job Opportunities Program (OJOP) and several athletes competing in the meet are also staff members of The Home Depot: Mark Crear (110 m H), Jerome Davis (400 m), Bryan Woodward (800 m), Savante Stringfellow (LJ), Melissa Morrison (100 m H) and Kellie Suttle (PV).

The Golden Spike Tour series is sponsored by Sunny D Intense Sport Drink, Verizon and Visa.

Television

The meet will be televised live on NBC from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. Pacific time. The producer is Sam Flood with on-air announcers Tom Hammond, Carol Lewis, Lewis Johnson, Marty Liquori and Dwight Stones.

The Home Depot Center

This remarkable facility, constructed on 125 acres on the campus of California State University, Dominguez Hills, includes a 27,000-seat soccer stadium (home to the L.A. Galaxy), an 8,000-seat tennis center (expandable to 13,000 seats), the track facility, a beach volleyball facility and the only indoor velodrome in the United States, now under construction. It cost $150 million to build with construction taking only 15 months from groundbreaking in late February 2002 to its opening on June 1, 2003.
